

GREETINGS FROM FUTURE LONDON

Speaking Landmarks

Buildings that actually speak for themselves! All around London there's red plaques on famous buildings - you dial up the number on your mobile and it tells you the history behind the building... they should have this back home it's great!

Power in the City

I saw one of these cool 40m high urban wind turbines, called 'Power in the City'. Was thrilled when I got to see them up close - they are so elegant & provide 20% of London's electricity!

Enlight House

CAME ACROSS A BRILLIANT IDEA TODAY CALLED 'ENLIGHT HOUSES' ALONG REGENT'S CANAL. THEY LOOK BEAUTIFUL AND THE LIGHT FROM THEM MADE THE CANAL FEEL SO MUCH SAFER. TODAY'S ECSTATIC AS HE'S HEARD THEY HAVE FREE INTERNET DURING THE DAY!

River of Light

Couldn't believe my eyes this evening as I walked along the Thames - the water lit up in different colours as I walked past! Made my journey home so much more exciting!

London-on-ice

SKATING ON THE SERPENTINE! AMAZING! SPACE AND NATURE - SO MUCH BETTER THAN THE TINY OLD RECTILINEAR ONES THERE USED TO BE.

U & I Bridges

HAD THE BEST JOURNEY INTO WORK EVER TODAY! STROLLING OVER THE NEW 'UNI' BRIDGE GAVE ME FANTASTIC VIEWS DOWN THE THAMES - QUICKER THAN THE BUS & TRAFFIC FREE!

Film in the Park

Was thrilled to come across an open air cinema in Jubilee Gardens - right in the heart of London!

They show films every Friday night throughout the summer. Best of all it's free!!

Free Space

Went to one of these cool new Free Spaces for kids today. Every neighborhood in London has one. We had fun on the zip-wires and chilled out. The workers treat us with respect and told us all about the cool cases we could do - never would've thought of becoming an architect!
